

Monday, May 1, 2006

UB Governance Center granted $330K

Business First of Buffalo

The University at Buffalo's Institute for Local Governance and Regional Growth has received a helping hand from the John R. Oishei Foundation.

The center was granted $336,371 by Oishei to develop phase two of the recently launched Regional Knowledge Network.

The Regional Knowledge Network is a new resource for Western New York and the Niagara Peninsula of southern Ontario. It features data, maps, lists and resources for 10 regionally critical topic areas, and dynamic user-driven tools for accessing such information. The first phase of the network was launched in March.

The RKN can be found online at rkn.buffalo.edu,

All contents of this site © American City Business Journals Inc. All rights reserved.